

Kalfass: Expansion of production area

GERMANY At the Kalfass Verpackungsmaschinen site in Nürtingen-Zizishausen, work to expand the production area has begun. The project includes an extension to the existing production facility, as well as a redesign of the infrastructure to the new hall. The current production area will be expanded to 2000 m². “We are pleased that after completion, the cramped conditions that prevailed at peak times will finally be history,” explains Jens Kalfass, managing director of the Swabian film packaging specialist. Completion is scheduled for the autumn of this year. The company places great importance on sustainability, which is the case with this project as well. Thus, the tract will be efficiently supplied by a cogeneration plant that went into operation in 2009. This underlines the high value that Kalfass places on the responsible use of natural resources.

In addition to increasing the production area, an expansion of the Kalfass workforce is planned for sales as well as in development and design; in some areas this has already taken place. On 1 July Hermann Oswald will join the Kalfass sales team.
